Zoo Inhabitants by the Numbers

1400 ANIMALS
270 SPECIES
37 ENDANGERED
21 CRITICALLY ENDANGERED
The Zoo celebrated the birth of two female Brazilian ocelot kittens in March. With Brazilian ocelots increasingly under threat in their native range due to habitat loss, the Association of Zoos and Aquariums is working with the Brazilian government to increase the species’ numbers in North American zoos. The birth of these kittens is an important contribution toward this conservation effort.

OUR VISION

To leverage the diverse resources of Los Angeles to be an innovator for the global zoo community, creating dynamic experiences to connect people and animals.
Dear Zoo Friends,

You may have heard me wax on before that a zoo is a well-run, finely tuned organization where people make a difference every day. I am proud to say that the Los Angeles Zoo and Botanical Gardens is a zoo. It is a zoo that has contributed countless hours and efforts toward animal conservation and introducing generations of Angelenos in all our great diversity to the wonders of wildlife from around the world and in our own backyard.

As more and more of us move into urban areas, wildlife is being squeezed out and often forgotten. It is with that in mind that we began last year looking to the Zoo’s future and how it can best serve an increasingly urbanized population while supporting wildlife and remaining habitats. How can we build a “Zoo Without Borders”? The result is a new Vision Plan for the Zoo’s future that you will be hearing more about soon. It is an exciting plan that provides more space for the animals who live here, facilitates the great work of the Zoo’s professional staff, and makes for a great day for Zoo visitors.

It has been my great honor to serve as the Zoo’s Director for the past decade and a half. We have done some great things together, and I sincerely thank you for your participation and support. After 43 years of doing this wonderful work in zoos across the country, it is now time for me to move on and enjoy the fruits of retirement with my wife and family. With your continued support, and the combined stewardship of Zoo and GLAZA staff, the future of the Zoo is bright. Please stay involved—and remember it is your Zoo.

A farewell message

John R. Lewis
LOS ANGELES ZOO DIRECTOR
Message to our members

Dear Zoo Friends,

An Annual Report is more than just facts and figures. We think of it as a big thank-you card to our donors, members, and other supporters who play a part in the life of the Zoo. As you peruse these pages, we hope that you are proud of all the Zoo has accomplished—with your help—in the last year.

With more nights and more lights, L.A. Zoo Lights drew more guests than ever before, bolstering its reputation as a can’t-miss holiday tradition for area residents. Our annual gala, the Beastly Ball, raised more than $1.5 million and was named #3 benefit event in Southern California by BizBash. It was a magical night for all involved—and for the animals and programs that will benefit from the generosity of the evening.

Through the generosity of our donors, we were able to renovate habitats for laughing kookaburras and ocelots. We also secured funding for future projects, large and small—including a new waterfall in the trumpeter swan pond, and Angela Collier Gardens, a new outdoor park and entertainment venue that will develop previously under-utilized space behind the Children’s Discovery Center.

A quick glance at the map on pages 12-13 will show you where, through money and manpower, the Zoo and GLAZA have contributed to conservation in the past year. These include programs near and dear to our collective hearts. Grants from Dominic J. Ornato enabled three animal keepers to do field work in diverse parts of the world, and the Duttenhaver Fund gave seven high school students the chance to work alongside wildlife biologists in Kenya. Programs like these exemplify GLAZA’s mission to help the Zoo reach beyond its borders to have an impact on the wider world. Also through GLAZA’s fund-raising, the Zoo will soon hire a Curator of Conservation, who will oversee the Species Conservation Action Network (SCAN), an unprecedented expansion of our conservation activities.

You play a vital part in the life of this Zoo—and we sincerely thank you.

animal care

It was a busy year for births and hatchings at the Zoo—especially in the herpetology division, which hatched more than 1,000 mountain yellow-legged frog tadpoles. Most of these were destined for release into the wild as part of a collaborative conservation program with other zoos and wildlife agencies. Wild populations of this amphibian once numbered as few as 100.

1470 BIRTHS & HATCHINGS

65 Birds

118 Reptiles

1177 Amphibians

25 Crustaceans

85 Mammals

NEW ARRIVALS

Many additions were transfers recommended by Species Survival Plan (SSP) programs coordinated by the Association of Zoos and Aquariums. These programs are necessary to ensure genetic diversity in zoo populations. LEFT TO RIGHT: Notable newcomers include a pair of spectacled owls, a wrinkled hornbill, and a female Western lowland gorilla.

6 CALIFORNIA CONDOR CHICKS HATCHED

Every chick hatched helps move this critically endangered species a step further from extinction.

BIRD GARDENS

The Zoo debuted six new bird gardens—one in each of the Zoo’s geographic regions. These gardens were designed to give our guests inspiration for creating bird-friendly habitat in their own yards.
WELCOME TO THE WORLD

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT:
Last year’s births and hatchings include two Sichuan takin calves; a male Francois langur; two female Masai giraffes; two litters of butaan (also known as Gray’s monitor lizard), and the first-ever female okapi born at the Zoo.

EVENTS TO REMEMBER

Photos by JAMIE PHAM
A diverse membership, dedicated volunteers, and dynamic events and education programs are at the heart of the Zoo’s community outreach efforts. This year’s on-site events included Wild for the Planet, PBS SoCal KIDS Weekend, and the always egg-citing Big Bunny’s Spring Fling. We continue to connect guests with nature through a robust offering of camps and classes, and we expanded our daily offerings of talks, demos, and exploration stations. A total of 579,530 people took part in these interactive activities last year!

Conservation is a cornerstone of our mission. Endangered species on five continents are benefiting from conservation grants or field assistance provided by the Los Angeles Zoo in the last fiscal year. These projects are aimed at studying wild populations, creating sustainable breeding programs, reducing habitat destruction, and educating people about the challenges faced by imperiled species. THANK YOU TO OUR DONORS

We are deeply grateful to the individual, corporate, and foundation donors who generously support the Greater Los Angeles Zoo Association and the Los Angeles Zoo and Botanical Gardens. With ever-increasing pressure on wildlife worldwide, our work has never been more important nor donations more critical. We applaud the dedication and patronage of our donors, members, and partners who have invested in one of our community’s shining assets.

This year, the Selig Legacy Society welcomed four new members, who have made provisions in their estate plans to support GLAZA. An annual luncheon was held in October to honor this special group of donors.

CUMULATIVE GIVING

The Greater Los Angeles Zoo Association proudly recognizes the following individuals, corporations, and foundations that have contributed cumulative gifts of $25,000 and above from January 1, 1985, to June 30, 2018. These generous gifts include cash, grants, bequests, and/or securities. They represent the highest level of philanthropy and commitment to GLAZA and the Zoo. These donors enable us to build state-of-the art animal exhibits, support critical species conservation programs at the Zoo and around the globe, provide funds for innovative animal health care and education programs, and secure the future of the Zoo by building a strong endowment. We celebrate and thank these generous benefactors.

Listed in alphabetical order

This annual report listing recognizes those who contributed $1,000 or more in support of the Los Angeles Zoo and Botanical Gardens between July 1, 2017, and June 30, 2018. Every effort has been made to ensure that the list is complete and accurate. If errors or omissions have occurred, please accept our apologies and call the Development Office at 323/644-9105 to report corrections. Thank you.
BUSINESS PARTNERS

Designed specifically for businesses and corporations, GLAZA’s Business Partners donors share the Los Angeles Zoo’s commitment to conservation and education. By becoming a Business Partner with a gift of $1,500 or more annually, these donors send a clear message about their dedication to the cultural vitality of Los Angeles and the preservation of wildlife across the globe. We are pleased to recognize the following business and corporate partners.

FISCAL YEAR 2017-2018

More than 400 individuals, schools, and community groups adopted animals through GLAZA’s ADOPT (Animal Depend On People, Too!) program.

EQUIPMENT

A major gift from the Henry L. Guenther Foundation made it possible for the veterinary staff to acquire new equipment for the care of the Zoo’s animal residents.

A complete set of financial statements audited by SingerLewak LLP, in which an unqualified opinion is rendered, is available at https://www.lazoo.org/about/glaza/. It is the policy of the Greater Los Angeles Zoo Association that a portion of gifts and/or income therefrom is used to defray the costs of raising and administering the funds.
Help us help them.

Our animal care experts work tirelessly to preserve and protect endangered species.

By joining our monthly giving program, you can support the Zoo’s conservation programs and impact the lives of animals around the world.
